FOR the use of Mankind in general, and the Clergy in particular—manufactured by Philo—is now offered the public. Extracts of Notices from the Press. Carlton & Phillips, New York, have published, for the author, a "queer" book, entitled, The Patent Hat. We hardly know how to describe it. It contains an abundance of doggerer, no small amount of arollery, and a still greater amount of good sense and pertinent hits.

The cuts are well done, and not a little humorous.—National Magazins.

The cuts are well done, and not a little humorous.—National Magazins.

The Patent Hat will be read with interest by thousands throughout the whole country.—Christian Register.
It is altogether unique in composition, as in title. The sentiments are good, and the style energetic.—N. C. dd.—Price, prepaid, 80 cents; two Hats for $1.50; three of the Patent Hats will be forwarded by express, on the receipt of $2. Let everybody who wants to make a nice present to their minister send and get one; and one for their own use, likewise. Eighty cents can be sent in stamps, or a bill sent, and the change will be returned with the book. Address

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE, 1855-'6.

THE TRIBUNE is now in the middle of its fifteenth on the 1st of September last. The American public need not now be made acquainted with its character or claims to consideration. With but a subordinate regard for pradence, policy, or popularity, it has aimed to stand for Righteousness, for Truth, for Humanity, against fortified Iniquity, Fraud, and Oppression. There is not a slave-trader on this Continent, though he may never read anything but his bills of sale and notes-payable, who does not know and hate THE TRIBUNE; there is not an extensive fabricator of dragged and poisonous Liquors who does not consider it a very dangerous and immoral paper, and wonder why its publication is tolerated in a commercial, cotton-buying City like New York. The Newark Mexicura once forcibly remarked, that it had never known a hard, griping, screwing, avaricions, employer who was not hostite to THE TRIBUNE; or one eminently generous and kindly who did not like it. Prompt and plain-pooken in its denunciations of iniquity and abuses of power, while claiming no exemption from human fallibility, it may have done temporary injustice to individuals, but it has never been unfatthful to Principle, nor deaf is the cries of the wronged and suffering. In the columns, the advocates of novel and unpopular theories, contemplating the melioration of human woes, especially those of the voiceless and down-trodden, have ever found audience and hospitality; while it has ardently resisted, and will persistently combat, every attempt to proscribe and degrade any class, because of diversities of Nativity, Creed, or Color.

In defiance of calumnies the most strocious, and of hostitities the most deadily and untiring, THE TRIBUNE has grown steadily in public appreciation from the day of, its origin. Its means of serving the public have been augmented in proportion. Instead of a single editor, with one or two assistants, its organization now comprises a numerous body of writers, each fitted by special accomplishment and e THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE, 1855-26
